If you are a PLANNER, you usually enjoy planning new and better ways of doing things. You make sure that you consider every angle before making an important decision. You admire the pursuit of perfections. You respect knowledge and are a thinker by nature. You believe life should proceed in a logical manner. Causes are more important to you than effects. You believe in budgeting time or money, and you try to analyze and understand the inner workings of people and of nature. You are a person of reason and wisdom. You often try to predict what is going to happen in order to be ready for it.

You live life by your own standards. You want explanations and answers. You are logical, and you are also fair. You value intelligence, justice, and insight. You like to dream and think about the way things could be. You are a visionary and a problem solver.

You focus on the big picture rather than on the details. You love to get new ideas, but you often get bored with all the steps needed to make them happen.

You often act more mature than your age, and you like to focus your energy on your greatest interests. At school, you do best in subjects that are mentally challenging. You don't like drill and practice activities, and you often question authority. You need to respect teachers before you can learn from them. You learn well from films and through independent projects.
