General Housekeeping

I am so proud of all of the productive determination the students have shown this past week. They have definitely earned that spring break coming up next week. Enjoy a healthy, well-rested break!

Our Class Show and Tell is tomorrow-your child may bring in an item to share with the class if he/she would like. It is not required.

Reader's Workshop

We started a new module this week that focuses on new inventions! We are reading about Thomas Edison and looking at text and graphic features, text structure (how does the author organize the writing), and central idea!

Math

The students are taking their Unit 4 assessment on fractions and line plots this week. We will begin learning about geometrical shapes later this week!

Writing/ Grammar

The students are wrapping up their persuasive piece this week: which is better: cats or dogs? The students have had to read and use sources to support their details. We have also been practicing more response to literature writing.

In grammar this week, we are continuing to practice writing comparative and superlative adverbs and adjectives. Susie ran more quickly than Billy. Billy was the tallest of all the students.

Social Studies

The students have learned more about rights we have as US citizens, as well as why it is important to follow laws and rules. We will be taking our test on these concepts this week.

Science

Students have learned many ways to handle a pesky mosquito problem, based on what they have learned about mosquito life cycles. We will continue learning more about life cycles after spring break.

Happy Birthday!

There are no birthdays to celebrate this week.

Upcoming Events

Reminders

Our class show and tell is tomorrow, Thursday. If your child would like to send something in with your child, feel free.

Our parade is this Friday! Please encourage your child to participate. Sheets went home earlier this week with an idea your child had for a potential costume. While it is not required, it's a great way to feel connected to our One School, One Book activities, Miss Alaineus.
