General Housekeeping

The students took their math Forward Exam yesterday and today. They did amazing! I am so proud of their perseverance and hard work. This will continue to carry us through when we take our last round of iReady testing in a couple of weeks. This time of year can be a challenge: There is still lots of work to be done, but the nicer weather can make it hard to stay focused. Continue to encourage your child to persevere at home with his/her schoolwork: getting PAWs minutes done, practicing those math facts nightly, and practicing those spelling words! Together we can! :)

Reader's Workshop

We began our new module this week that focuses on the process of bringing food to the table. Students are working on the idea of text features, central idea, and determining facts vs opinions.

Math

After taking our Forward Exam we will begin solving multi-step story problems. We will be wrapping our Geometry Unit at the end of this week.

Writing/ Grammar

The students have started a new piece of writing this week: Poetry! We have learned about different elements of poetry, and have begun brainstorming ideas for writing poetry related to a specific season!

Students are also reviewing how to correctly write abbreviations.

Social Studies

Students have continued looking at American Heritage and Culture. We are exploring different landmarks, symbols, and documents that have shaped our history.

Science

Students have learned a lot about the life cycle of a plant. They are wrapping up their life cycles unit this week with learning about variation among plants.

Happy Birthday!

There are no birthdays to celebrate this week.
